1.0 BACKGROUND AND PURPOSE

Indirect (F&A) Costs are budgeted for by Colorado School of Mines (Mines) for all sponsored research projects in order to recover infrastructure and operational costs. The amount budgeted is based on an Indirect Cost rate negotiated between Mines and Mines’ cognizant audit agency, the Office of Naval Research.

Mines is committed to encouraging growth in its research portfolio. To support this commitment, Mines returns the department administration portion of the Indirect Costs collected on sponsored research projects to Principal Investigators (PIs) and their home department or center in which the project resides. Additional return is provided to the appropriate Dean of the academic portfolio where the PI resides and the Vice President of Research and Technology Transfer (VPRTT) to invest in research across the university. Collectively, these returns are defined as Indirect Cost Returns.

This policy provides guidance related to Indirect Cost Returns.

2.0 POLICY STATEMENT(S)

Indirect Cost Returns will only be distributed to a PI, department, center, or Dean for sponsored research projects that collect the full On Campus Indirect Cost rate.

Distribution of Indirect Cost Returns will be based on the percentages set by the Vice President for Research and Technology Transfer (VPRTT) and the Chief Financial Officer (CFO). See Exhibit 1 – Indirect Cost Return Distribution Percentages.

Indirect Cost Returns can only to be spent to further research at Mines.

Non-academic units (Student Life, Library, Information & Technology Solutions, etc.) will not receive Indirect Cost Return.

3.0 RESPONSIBILITIES

The VPRTT and the CFO are responsible for developing and authorizing the Indirect Cost Return percentages.

PIs, departments, centers, Deans and VPRTT are responsible for ensuring use of Indirect Cost Returns is in accordance with this policy.

ORA and the Office of Research and Technology Transfer are responsible for performing periodic audits of Indirect Cost Return usage to ensure the funds are being used to support research initiatives.

4.0 COMPLIANCE/ENFORCEMENT

If it is determined that Indirect Cost Returns for a specific project have been redistributed or used in violation of this policy by any one recipient, the returns applicable to that project will be removed from all recipient (PI, department, center, and Dean) accounts and transferred to the VPRTT.
